Bocuse: a personality, a place, a myth. As Edmond Rostand says through Cyrano de Bergerac: “And this monument, when can it be visited?” At your leisure in Collonges on the banks of the Saône. The maestro is everywhere in paintings, bronzes, photos, souvenirs basking in a decor of pink champagne synonymous with grand bourgeois houses. The cuisine offers legendary dishes prepared like an alexandrine: classic, rich and rhythmical. There's a Hugoesque feeling about it all..
